LEHIGH DEFENSE TME AMMUNITION

Lehigh Defense, which is owned by Wilson Combat, is offering several new hunting loads with their innovative TME (Tipped Maximum Expanding) bullet, including a 120-grain 6.5 Creedmoor, 155-grain .308 Win, and a 115-grain load for the criminally underappreciated .300 Ham'r cartridge. TME bullets feature high BCs and normally retain nearly 100% of their original weight. Lehigh is also offering TME bullets in these weights for reloaders if you prefer to load your own. $60-$75 per 20; wilsoncombat.com

FIOCCHI KNOCKDOWN

Fiocchi's KnockDown rifle ammunition is loaded with their Lead-Free Copper Hollow Point bullet and Fiocchi's clean-burning proprietary powders. The monolithic bullet design initiates deep penetration and high retained bullet weight, and the LFCHP bullet is also suitable for hunting in lead-free zones. There are currently eight different loads available ranging from .243 Win. to .300 Win. Mag. $37-$53 per 20; fiocchiusa.com

BARNES VOR-TX RR

Barnes' VOR-TX ammunition is a favorite of serious hunters, and for 2024, Barnes is offering a new reduced recoil version of that ammo called VOR-TX RR. Like the original, RR loads utilize all-copper tipped TSX bullets, but RR TTSX bullets (with special light blue polymer tips for easy identification) are optimized for premium performance with propellants specifically designed to reduce recoil. Cartridge offerings range from .243 Win. to .300 Win. Mag. $47-$66 per 20; barnesbullets.com

BROWNING MAX POINT

Browning's Max Point ammunition features aerodynamic Max Point bullets, offering rapid expansion and maximum energy transfer. The combination of a streamlined bullet, rapidly expanding tip and a thickening jacket, ensures reliable penetration and makes Max Point ammunition a natural choice for whitetails, mule deer, pronghorn and similar game. New this year to the Max Point line is a 140-grain 28 Nosler offering, and the good news for lever lovers, it's also available in .30-30. $39-$71/per 20; browningammo.com

FEDERAL FUSION TIPPED

Fusion bullets feature a pressure-formed lead core and molecularly-bonded copper jacket, providing hunters high weight retention and excellent terminal performance. Federal's new Fusion Tipped ammunition builds upon the original Fusion bullet, providing a higher ballistic coefficient and more retained downrange energy. Federal is currently offering nine different loads from 6.5 Creedmoor to .300 Win. Mag., including their latest release, a 175-grain offering for the hot 7mm PRC. $45-$82 per 20; federalpremium.com
